

Albert Fish Memorial Tournament

1. [General descriptions acceptable] These men had a squeamish acquaintance with an intense fear of blood and the inability to bathe his cat for fear he would scald it. They tortured stray dogs as a means of desensitization, and often used animal blood to draw swastikas and other symbols. One of these men shared a birthday with Hitler which partially inspired his (*) Social Darwinist beliefs. Their first two murders occurred while they were “out on a walk”, and included a man sleeping on a bench. The most famous attack for these friends of Alexander Hanzha began with a weapon concealed in a yellow plastic bag and features the guttural screams of the disabled Sergei Yatzenko. For 10 points, name these serial killers famous for a snuff film featuring a household tool.

ANSWER: Ukraine killers; or “Three Guys, One Hammer” killers; or Dnepropetrovsk maniacs; or Igor Saprunyuck and Victor Sayenko

2. The perpetrator of this event changed into a wide-brimmed hat in order to conceal his face during it. The victim of this event had $49 stolen from her and was comforted by Sophia Farrar. Joseph Fink and Karl Ross were both present at this event that took place in the Kew Gardens neighborhood. Its perpetrator was a machine operator and a necrophile who wanted simply to “kill a woman”, and is (*) Winston Mosely. Author Harlan Ellison referred to people present at this event as “thirty-six motherfuckers” although controversy exists over the veracity of reports on this event. For 10 points, name this event that occurred in Queens, New York that is often used as a demonstration of the bystander effect.

ANSWER: murder of Kitty Genovese

3. This form of torture was employed by Diederik Sonoy, an ally of William the Silent, using a pottery bowl and hot charcoals. A report of CONADEP in Argentina detailed the use of this type of torture with a device known as the “recto-scope”. In American Psycho, Patrick Bateman uses a tube to employ this form of torture and later shows victims videos of it. Commonly used in the (*) Tower of London, this form of torture made an appearance in 2 Fast 2 Furious during an interrogation scene. In Game of Thrones, the head torturer and “Tickler” use this form of torture, involving a bucket and a torch. For 10 points, name this form of torture used on Winston Smith in Room 101 at the end of Nineteen Eighty-Four, which makes use of a rodent.

ANSWER: rat torture [accept anything related to torture involving rats]

4. This novel begins with an unexpectedly light-hearted introduction which refers to the reader as “friend reader”. This novel was written in prison after its author poisoned a prostitute with a Spanish fly. Characters in this novel include the aged banker Durcet and the Duke of Blangis. This novel’s last section depicts the murder of a teenaged girl, Augustine, by the (*) libertines. Simone de Beauvoir wrote an essay that defended this novel after asking if we should burn its author. This novel was adapted by Pasolini into a film known as Salo. This novel details “simple”, “complex”, and “murderous” passions that take place over four months inside of a castle. Written after Justine is, for 10 points, what grotesque novel by the Marquis de Sade.

ANSWER: 120 Days of Sodom or The School of Libertinism

5. The first victim of this man was given hippocras and pampered before being taken into the room of his death. This man would hang his victims’ bodies with ropes from a hook in order to keep them from crying out, and then masturbate onto their bellies or thighs. A double-edged sword was kept on hand for all of his murders, and he would burn his victims’ bodies in his room’s fireplace. He was an antagonist in the anime (*) Fate/Zero and is thought to be the inspiration of the “Bluebeard” folktale. His innocence was defended by the Duke of Brittany and many modern scholars, though he was eventually executed at Nantes. For 10 points, name this French army leader accused of killing over 80 children, who served alongside Joan of Arc in the military.

ANSWER: Gilles de Rais

6. One man present at this event hung himself from a tree with his own belt and left a note saying that “surviving alone is too painful” and “I take full responsibility”. White flowers were placed on empty desks after this event which caused a politician’s approval ratings to go from 71% to around 40%. The primary cause of this event was said to be an “unreasonably sudden turn” which moved cargo. Similar events occurred on the Namyoung in 1970 and on the Seohae in 1992 and (*) The Chosen Ilbo was a major source of information about this event. Many affected by this event attended Danwon High School. For 10 points, name this tragic event that occurred between Incheon and Jeju for a group of South Korean high school students.

ANSWER: Sinking of the MV Sewol [accept “South Korean ferry”]

7. Part of a three-phase plan created by this man included extorting millions of dollars from the U.S. government in order to finance travel into Canada. This man left Tarot cards at several scenes, including a Death card that read “Call me God” and he drove a blue Chevrolet Caprice that he acquired in New Jersey. The first phase of this man’s plan involved quick escape routes and killing 6 (*) white people a day for 30 days, but his goal of 180 deaths was nowhere near reached. Louis Farrakhan has publicly distanced himself from this man, who was aided by the 17-year old Jamaican Lee Boyd Malvo. For 10 points, name this member of the Nation of Islam that murdered ten people in a series of attacks in Maryland, Virginia, and Washington D.C.

ANSWER: “Beltway Sniper” or John Allen Muhammad

8. This character’s phone number is 555-1220 and he is arrested with the code 021068. He is asked whether a perfume is too overbearing after becoming frustrated at a dry-cleaners. The sight of this character causes a construction worker to hop away on a jackhammer. This character has a red scar on his forehead and he is first seen during “early morning litter patrol”. He draws an elaborate portrait on the back of a car seat of a character who would later stab his corneas with (*) spiky cleats for 6 hours. He is asked “Hey Mac, what’re you in for?” after jumping out of a plane using a yellow parachute. This character has very dirty hands and laughs diabolically in front of a purple background. For 10 points, name this killer who uses a fake moustache while acting as bodyguard for Spongebob.

ANSWER: Tattle-tale Strangler

9. Halfway through this event, its subject glanced up after hearing a phone ring. Its subject kept his eyes closed while speaking during much of this event. A similar event took place the day before with Agent William Hagmaier. The murder of Kimberly Leach was brought up, but quickly dismissed during this event. Its subject mentioned his normal upbringing in a Christian home before stating that “we are your sons and we are your husbands” while describing his foray into (*) hardcore pornography. The founder of Focus on the Family, James Dobson, conducted this event that took place on January 24, 1989 at 2:30 PM, a day before the execution of its subject in a Florida State Prison. For 10 points, name this last public appearance of a famous serial killer from the Northwest.

ANSWER: Ted Bundy’s last interview [accept clear equivalents]

10. This group was the subject of the films The Philosophy of a Knife and Men Behind the Sun. Many people involved with this group were referred to as “logs”. A leader of this group ordered his men to “take the secret to the grave” which many members did not do at Khabarovsk. Actions of this group included poisoning wells and dropping plague-infested fleas over towns. Centered at (*) Harbin, this group was referred to as the “Epidemic Prevention and Water Purification Department” as part of the Kwantung Army. Many of its members were pardoned by the U.S. in exchange for information, including its leader, Shiro Ishii. For 10 points, name this Japanese military unit in charge of biological and chemical warfare during World War II, notable for its many vivisections and other awful experiments.

ANSWER: Unit 731

11. This man did business with Benjamin Pitezel, who he used chloroform on after his death in order to fake a suicide. He had a relationship with the wife of a former employer, Julia Smythe, before killing her. As a child, this man was forced by bullies to touch a human skeleton, a likely cause of his obsession with death. He acquired a drugstore from Dr. Elizabeth Holton. This man's connections from (*) medical school allowed him to sell his victims' corpses, and he also collected the life insurance of many of his victims. Those victims were often employees in a block-long, three story hotel that he turned into a "Murder Castle". The subject of Erik Larson's Devil in White City is, for 10 points, which American serial killer who operated at the 1893 Chicago World's Fair.

ANSWER: H.H. Holmes or Herman Webster Mudgett

12. After this man's first murder of the eight-year-old Talia Shapiro, he began using the alias "John Berger". He convinced many young people that he was a professional fashion photographer in order to take explicit photos. He was convicted of the murder of Robin Samsoe after police found her earrings in one of this man's lockers. This man's father supposedly "found him in the darkroom at age 13, fully developed" and he played a "dirty old man" in a mock audition. His instruction to "peel me" came after he said that he would be a banana if he were a meal. Those statements were said to Cheryl Bradshaw, who refused a date with this man because he was "creepy". For 10 points, name this California serial killer who is most notable for his (*) appearance on a show featuring three bachelors.

ANSWER: Rodney Alcala or "Dating Game Killer"

13. A woman from this state suspected of killing between 1 and 46 infants is the former nurse Genene Jones. Another killer from this state, Kenneth McDuff, went on a series of "Broomstick Murders" in the late 1960's. A man from this state's folklore supposedly disposed of his victims' remains using alligators. That man, Joe Ball, has been called the (*) "Butcher of Elmendorf". The "Eyeball Killer" Charles Albright was convicted in this state in 1991. A famous series of murders in this state were committed by the Phantom Killer and are known as the Moonlight Murders. A film set in this state was inspired by the actions of Ed Gein and features the Hardesty family and the hulking antagonist Leatherface. For 10 points, name this state where a famous "Chain Saw Massacre" takes place in a 1974 film.

ANSWER: Texas

14. Victims of this event included San Jose city manager A.P Hamann and pin-up model Eve Meyer. Some men present at this event were distracted while listening to a soccer game. Two men who tried to avoid this event were Victor Grubbs and Robert Bragg, who controlled the "Clipper Victor". One man responsible for this event could be seen on advertisements before it. That man was (*) Jacob Veldhuyzen. This event was partially caused by a bomb planted by Fuerzas Guanches in Las Palmas. A heavy fog was present at this event where back-taxiing was used due to a taxiway being occupied by other airplanes. Walter White mentions this event in a speech consoling an assembly after the crash of Wayfarer 515. For 10 points, name this deadliest disaster in aviation history that occurred in the Canary Islands.

ANSWER: Tenerife airport disaster

15. This man said that American Psycho was his personal "bible" and his request to be moved to medium security was denied in August 2013. This man was a school friend of Colonel Russell Williams. His first interview with police came when his friend Tina Smirnis told police of his odd sexual habits, and took place after a series of crimes he committed in (*) Scarborough. One of his victims had her spaghetti laced with Valium and was raped, and 6 months later died after choking in her sleep. That girl, Tammy, was a victim because this man's wife desired to "keep it all in the family". This man's wife served only a 12 year prison sentence despite being his main accomplice. For 10 points, name this husband of Karry Homolka, a Canadian serial killer.

ANSWER: Paul Bernardo [accept "The Scarborough Rapist" or "The Schoolgirl Killer" before mention]

16. The Paul Quinn Weekly criticized participants in this event, which included the mayor John Dollins. Roy Mitchell benefited from reforms that were put in place after this event. Samuel Fleming apprehended the victim of this event which included 10,000 spectators witnessing a public castration. Fred Gildersleeve was the main photographer of this event, and postcards were made of a photograph from this event, including one saying “this is the barbecue”. It took place after the murder of Lucy Fryer. Elisabeth Freeman investigated this event for the NAACP, while (*) Ida B. Wells did not partake in activism after it. For 10 points, name this event in Waco, Texas in 1916, one example of a common racially motivated killing.

ANSWER: Lynching of Jesse Washington

17. This song’s speaker will “choke radio announcer to bouncer” and doesn’t “even believe in breathing”. Its speaker says that he invented violence and uses alliteration to attack “vile venomous volatile” bitches, “vrin vrin vrin!” This song ends with its speaker laughing and saying “I’m just playing” and “you know I love you”. It asks Norman Bates if it is normal for a bloodstain to be orange after being washed 3-4 times. Ontario’s Attorney General spoke out against this song’s lyrics and Lynne Cheney used it to argue for age-restrictions on music sales. This song’s speaker asks “know why I say these things?” and answers “cause lady’s screams keep creeping in (*) Shady’s dreams”. For 10 points, name this controversial first track on the Marshall Mathers LP about a series of murders.

ANSWER: “Kill You”

18. After an escape attempt, this woman once put a 12-year-old girl, Pola, inside of a spherical cage and then punctured the cage with spikes, tearing her skin apart. While bedridden, her servant Dorothea would bring girls to her, who she would proceed to bite flesh off of. This woman married her husband, Ferenc Nadasdy, at age 14 and an investigation against this woman was led by Gyorgy Thurzo at the urging of (*) King Matthias II. Rumors persist about this woman’s use of virgin blood to retain her beauty. Many of her crimes took place in the location where she was immured for four years before her death, the Csejte Castle. For 10 points, name this legendary “Blood Countess” from Hungary, the most prolific female serial killer in history.

ANSWER: Elizabeth Báthory

19. This man wrote that “instincts are deleted by laws” and that the “human race sucks” in a journal he kept called the “Writings of God”. He talks about Brandon Larson’s head being put on a knife in a series of “Basement Tapes” that he’s featured in. He wears a black jacket and sunglasses in “Hitmen for Hire”, a short film he co-wrote. He created his own Doom levels, including an eerily foreshadowing one. This man, nicknamed (*) “Reb”, told somebody “It’s merely a flesh wound!” after shooting them inside a library. He can be seen buying propane tanks on a security camera, but the tanks failed to ever detonate. He committed suicide by firing a shotgun into the roof of his mouth, alongside his friend and accomplice. For 10 points, name this perpetrator of the Columbine shooting, a friend of Dylan Klebold.

ANSWER: Eric Harris

20. A spelling error in this document changes “stayed” to “staid”. This document mentions a man who returned to shore to find that his boat was gone after getting drunk during a famine in China. That man was the operator of the Steamer Tacoma, Capt. John Davis. The recipient of this document, Delia Flanagan, was illiterate, so she had her son read it to her. The subject of this document picked wildflowers and tried to run down the stairs of a house in (*) Westchester. That subject was supposed to attend a birthday party with the man who wrote this document. This document ends with the statement “She died a virgin” and describes the murder of a girl who took 9 days to eat. For 10 points, name this letter written to the family of the young girl Grace, written by the namesake of this tournament.

ANSWER: Albert Fish’s letter to Grace Budd’s parents

21. Before this event, merchants and traders were tortured at trials held in Gorodishche. During this event, many monks were murdered and then buried in their monasteries. A barrier was erected around the city it occurred in to trap inhabitants. One man at this event was called a “reprobate... a wolf, a destroyer, a traitor”. That man, the Archbishop (*) Pimen, was accused of supporting King Sigmund Augustus of Lithuania. After this event, the city of Pskov was attacked, a separate incident from its siege during the Livonian War that took place under Tsardom of this event’s perpetrator. This event was conducted by Malyuta Skuratov and took place in a city on the Volkhov River. For 10 points, name this brutal massacre perpetrated by the Oprichniki of Ivan IV.

ANSWER: Massacre of Novgorod

22. This man offered to let the priest Malachi Martin write his autobiography, but he refused. Based on one of this man’s writings, police organized a private screening of The Wicker Man. This man quietly chanted “Stacy was a whore” during one trial. Upon his arrest, he asked police “How come it took you such a long time?”. This man wrote about someone who had “too many heart attacks” in a (*) letter to Joseph Borrelli and he wrote about the “stale wine, urine, and blood” of sewers in his letters to Jimmy Breslin. Another letter written to police led them to believe he was familiar with Scottish English. A series of laws named after this man kept criminals from profiting off of publicity. For 10 points, name this man who used a .44 Bulldog Revolver on 13 people after a demon-possessed dog told him to.

ANSWER: “Son of Sam” or David Berkowitz

23. One character in this show is told that if she gets a chance, she should kill herself. Another character creates a strange scene using Barbie dolls. An episode focused on the Iron Crusaders ends with a six-minute tracking shot which nearly concludes the search for Reggie Ledoux. Its antagonist states that his family has been around “for a long, long time”. This show concluded with a wheelchair-bound character saying (*) “the light is winning”. That statement contrasts with the lines “time is a flat circle” and “human consciousness is a tragic misstep in evolution” of its nihilistic protagonist. Its antagonist Errol Childress inhabits the death maze Carcosa in the backlands of Louisiana. For 10 points, name this show created by Nic Pizzolatto about detectives Martin Hart and Rust Cohle that stars Matthew McConaughey.

ANSWER: True Detective

24. One man from this country was arrested carrying a copy of Crime and Punishment. Another man from this country was interviewed by Roy Laytner and said he was murdering about three girls per week. Another man from this country was interviewed by Pirry after murdering over 100 young boys in the street and countryside. That man became known as (*) “The Beast”. This country is home to the three serial killers with the largest number of proven victims: Daniel Camargo, Pedro Lopez, and Luis Garavita. This country’s history of violence also includes a ten-year period after the assassination of Jorge Gaitan, La Violencia. For 10 points, name this country where other terrible stuff happened with the Medellin Cartel of Pablo Escobar.

ANSWER: Colombia

25. This man would usually pour quicklime on the victims he kept in his crawl space. Jeffrey Rignall survived an attack by this man and wrote a book about the experience. This man’s younger work partner left him after an attempted rape, and his first murder was of Jack McCoy, who surprised this man with a knife in his bedroom. Many of his victims were strangled with a tourniquet, which he called his (*) “rope trick”. This man said that he reached orgasm after many of his kills, which showed him the “thrill of death”. This man’s service to his community allowed him to take a photograph with Rosalynn Carter. He is most famous for a character he created after joining the Jolly Joker club. For 10 points, name this murderer of young boys who often dressed as “Pogo the Clown”.

ANSWER: John Wayne Gacy

26. One work in this series depicts a fool being pulled by his clothes towards a creature playing a bagpipe, while another shows a blind man being led by a cane. This series was first published by the Treschel brothers in print, while Jean de Vauzele wrote a preface for it. This series includes multiple depictions of a monk guarding his charity box. Adam and Eve are depicted in the “Expulsion” and “After the Fall” in this series. Drums and trumpets are played in this series’ “Bones of All Men” which ends with the “Escutcheon” of the title concept. A lively skeleton is depicted in the majority of these works to represent that title concept. For 10 points, name this series of woodcuts named after a (*) late-medieval allegory by Hans Holbein.

ANSWER: Dance of Death

27. Bevo Means coined the name for this event after interviewing people at a drugstore. Almost sixty men confessed to having been at fault for this event, and among the suspects were Woody Guthrie and Orson Welles. William Randolph Hearst’s newspapers changed a black suit into a (*) “tight skirt and sheer blouse” to sensationalize this event. Once this event had been revealed, a newspaper called the victim’s mother and told her that her daughter had won a beauty contest, but later revealed that she had been killed. The strongest suspects in this event were Mark Hansen, whose name appeared on an address book mailed to the police, and Jack Anderson Wilson. For 10 points, name this colorful murder, after which Elizabeth Short’s body was carefully cut in two and left in a vacant lot.

ANSWER: Black Dahlia murder

28. This character, who suffers from a heavy cough, is said to be the redresser of a wrong that is unredressed. This character is first seen with a conical cap and bells on his head at a carnival. He makes a “grotesque movement” in order to question the masonry of another character who repeatedly speaks of nitre on the walls and wants to see the ignorant (*) Luchresi. This character is said to have “one thousand injuries” against a man who later serves him Medoc and De Grave. This character is not discovered even 50 years later and his last words are “For the love of God!” after he is chained to a wall and trapped behind 12 tiers of stone by Montresor. For 10 points, name this character who is murdered via immurement in Poe’s The Cask of Amontillado.

ANSWER: Fortunato

29. One of these cases in England affected Timothy Evans after the murder of his daughter in Notting Hill. One of these cases concerned the murder of Allen Hilzendager and ended with the death of Claude Jones. Another of these cases was explored in the documentary The Last Word and concerned the rape and murder of a nun by Johnny Garrett. The murder of two police officers caused one of these cases for Jesse Tafero. A more recent one affected Cameron Todd Willingham despite the efforts of the (*) Innocence Project. The number of these cases has decreased with advances in DNA testing, leading to many people being exonerated. For 10 points, name these cases where death row inmates didn’t actually commit a crime.

ANSWER: wrongful executions [accept anything about executing innocents]

30. Translated copies of these documents have been preserved by the descendents of William Cecil. These documents were found in a silver box labeled “F”, and the recipient of these documents had his servant George Dagleish attempt to recover them in vain. These documents were written after a surrender at Carberry Hill and they became part of Hay’s Articles after their discovery. These documents, which may have been written by the servant Mary Beaton, were written to the Earl of Bothwell and were used against their writer as evidence for the murder of (*) Lord Darnley. Francis Walsingham conducted a search for these documents in Scotland. For 10 points, name these letters written by Mary, Queen of Scots.

ANSWER: Casket letters

31. As a teenager, this man hid behind a bush in order to rape a jogger but the jogger didn't pass him that day. In one incident, officers John Balcerzak and Joseph Gabrish were called to this man's apartment by two women who were told to "shut the hell up" and "butt out" during their investigation. That incident was caused by the discovery of a naked and bloodied (*) Konerak Sinthasomphone found outside of this man's apartment. He commonly injected his victims' skulls with muriatic acid and at one point he attempted to make his victims into zombies. This man died after a beating from Christopher Scarver in prison and was known for preserving the body parts of his victims, most often the skeleton. For 10 points, name this Milwaukee Cannibal.

ANSWER: Jeffrey Dahmer

32. The opening sequence of this film shows the cutting of money and film strips and features the song "Closer" by Nine Inch Nails. One character in this film reads CliffsNotes for The Canterbury Tales and The Divine Comedy. That character lives in an apartment that repeatedly vibrates due to the subway with his wife that he unknowingly impregnates. Taking place in an unnamed, perpetually raining city, this film begins with the (*) investigation of a murder whose victim's face rests in a plate of spaghetti. At the end of this film, one character repeatedly asks for the contents of a box before shooting the villain, John Doe. For 10 points, name this film following the investigation of a string of murders starring Morgan Freeman and Brad Pitt and directed by David Fincher, whose name refers to the number of deadly sins.

ANSWER: Se7en

33. This event was preceded by a war in which Kings Bera and Birsha rebelled against Chedorlamer, culminating in the decisive Battle of the Vale of Siddim. An Akkadian poem refers to an event like this one, but is thought to refer to the destruction of Sennacherib's host. Two locations in which this event took place were allied with Admah, Zeboim and Bela, and Bela was the only city in the region not affected by this event. This event may have been the result of an (*) earthquake that showered boiling tar on these locations, and before this event one witness' daughters were offered to the inhabitants of the locations in the place of two foreigners. Name this event during which Lot's wife was turned into a pillar of salt and two cities were destroyed in the book of Genesis.

ANSWER: destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah [accept anything related to the two cities]

34. This event resulted in the loss of a prototype car, the Chrysler Norman. Harry Trask won a Pulitzer prize for photographing this event, while Peter Gimbel photographed part of its aftermath. A wife of Cary Grant survived this event and is still alive today. Harry Nordenson was partially responsible for this event, while the Ile De France played a key role in rescue efforts during it. A ship damaged in this event was renamed the Azores after its repair. This event was caused by a collision with the (*) MS Stockholm during a dense fog. George Costanza believed that the casualty count of this event was "like 1,000" instead of the low 52. For 10 points, name this event that occurred off the coast of Nantucket and ended with the destruction of an Italian ship.

ANSWER: Sinking of the SS Andrea Doria

35. This woman is reported to have married a coal miner named David who would later die in an explosion. Before her death, she had most recently lived with Joseph Barnett. This woman had the nicknames "Fair Emma" and "Ginger" though her hair color is still disputed. The detective Walter Dew knew this woman who he said was "quite attractive". A famous picture can be seen of her extremely mutilated corpse just after death. This woman lived in the (*) Whitechapel area of a certain city and her cries of "Murder!" were ignored because they were common where she was living. She is a character in the graphic novel From Hell, named after a letter written by her killer. For 10 points, name this fifth and final victim of Jack the Ripper.

ANSWER: Mary Jane Kelly

36. Some suspect that Daniel “Pegleg” Sullivan started this event, since he first reported it. Philip Sheridan was present at this event and helped coordinate relief efforts after Roswell B. Mason put his city under martial law, and William Belknap aided many victims of this event. The most famous depiction of this event was painted by John Chapin and printed in Harper’s Weekly. A similar event took place on the same day in (*) Peshtigo, Wisconsin and 40 years later in the Iroquois Theatre. The Holy Family Church and St. Michael’s Church both survived this event that began on De Koven Street and left 100,000 without homes. For 10 points, name this event possibly caused by a cow kicking over a lantern on the O’ Leary Farm in 1871 that killed up to 300 people in Illinois.

ANSWER: Great Chicago Fire of 1871 [Accept anything relating to Chicago and fires]

37. This document describes friendships with Philip Bloeser and James Ellis in Topanga. The author of this document received the book “The Secret” and subsequently bought over a thousand dollars in lottery tickets. Its author enjoyed soaking people with beverages, including filling a Super-Soaker with O.J. and throwing his latte on people at a bus stop. This document describes early life in The Old Rectory and at Dorsett School in England. The official name of this document is (*) “My Twisted World” and its author blamed the “females of the human species” for all of his problems. For 10 points, name this memoir of a BMW-driving, jealous virgin mix between Joffrey and young Anakin that describes a “Day of Retribution” that occurred on May 23, 2014 at a California college.

ANSWER: Elliot Rodger’s or UC-SB shooter’s manifesto [Accept “My Twisted World” before mention]

38. Occurring a day after the Orthodox Easter, this event caused the death of Louis Tikas at the hands of Karl Linderfelt. This event took place near the towns of Trinidad and Walsenburg in a state that was governed by Elias Ammons. A list of demands that preceded this event included payment for (*) “dead work” and the abolition of scrip. It featured an appearance of the Baldwin-Felts Detective Agency and a state’s National Guard in its namesake Tent Colony which was subsequently destroyed, causing the deaths of women and children by burning and asphyxiation. Howard Zinn wrote his masters’ thesis on this event, which is detailed in George McGovern’s The Great Coalfield War. For 10 points, name this 1914 massacre of striking coal miners in a Colorado mine owned by John D. Rockefeller.

ANSWER: Ludlow Massacre

39. This song was referenced in the Flight of the Conchords episode “Mugged” to describe a New York thug. Its creator imagined it as Alice Cooper doing a Randy Newman-type ballad. This song’s speaker, a “real live wire”, is “vain and blind” and he hates “people when they’re not polite”. Its famous bassline has notes that Jacob Reed could probably play on an instrument. Its speaker asks “why say it again?” if you’ve already said something once and “can’t seem to face up to the facts”. Much of this song is spoken in (*) French, including the lines “Realisant mon espoir” and the famous “Qu’est-ce que c’est?”. For 10 points, name this song whose speaker urges you to “run run run... away” and who is “fa fa fa fa fa fa fa fa far better”, by the Talking Heads.

ANSWER: “Psycho Killer”

40. One man from this state claimed to have murdered Billy Gaffney, a victim of Albert Fish. That man, Peter Kudzinowski, was later executed in this state. One killer from this state was the inspiration for Keyser Soze. That man, John List, murdered his entire family and became known as the “bogeyman of Westfield”. One killer from this state, Richard Kuklinski, was known for freezing his victims and became known as “The Iceman” while working for the Mafia. A murder case in this state involved an Episcopal priest and a member of his choir and was highly publicized. That Hall-Mills case was eventually eclipsed by the (*) Lindbergh kidnapping in this state. For 10 points, name this state where violence continues in cities like Newark and Trenton.

ANSWER: New Jersey

41. After the perpetrator of this event was released from prison, he translated books under the name Rainer Buschmann. Retaliation for this event is thought to have occurred at Chenogne two weeks later. A memorial for this event is located in the nearby town Baugnez. Gunshot wounds to the head indicate that this event was not done out of self-defense. This event occurred after engagements at Elsenborn and before an engagement at St. Vith. This event was perpetrated by Sepp Dietrich under the (*) Panzer division of Joachim Pieper. This event's trial was one part of the Dachau trials. This event occurred before Anthony McAuliffe sent the word "NUTS!" to any enemy general. For 10 points, name this massacre of 84 American POWs during the Battle of the Bulge.

ANSWER: Malmedy Massacre

42. This man wrote that "the dark side of me has been exposed" in his poem "Black Friday", an ode to the day he was arrested. This man wrote a botched version of an American folk song in his poem "Oh! Death to Nancy". A copycat who claimed to be this man was implicated in the murder of the Fager family, but was later proven innocent. He put a photocopy of the book Rules of Prey along with a gold-plated medallion in an envelope he sent to police. Hilariously, this man believed police when they told him that information could not be traced on a (*) floppy disk. This man was a leader of a Christ Lutheran Church in Sedgwick County, Kansas. For 10 points, name this man whose real name is Dennis Rader and whose alias is the three letter acronym for his killing process.

ANSWER: BTK or Dennis Rader

43. One man involved in this event is seen wearing blue overalls before lying back down on the rocks. One part of this event is described as "knocking four quick times on the doors of unhappiness". It is later revealed that this event occurred because of the intensity of the sun. This event, which occurs on the beach outside of (*) Masson's bungalow, is called "bad luck" by its perpetrators friend, Celeste. In the trial following this event, a lawyer says that "everything is true and nothing is true". The eventual punishment for this event is a beheading on behalf of the French people. This event titles the first single that The Cure released. Taking place after the stabbing of Raymond Sintes is, for 10 points, what narrative-splitting event that leads to the arrest of the protagonist of The Stranger.

ANSWER: Meursault's murder of the Arab [accept anything relating to Meursault killing an Arab]

44. This man disguised himself as a man named Martin Nilsen before an event where he said "you are going to die today!". This man wrote a series of texts named 2083. He used a white Volkswagen to plant a car bomb in front of multiple government buildings. This man complained that his prison cell was a "mini Abu Ghraib" and asked authorities for a (*) PS3 instead of a PS2. He supported the annihilation of "Eurabia", Controversy broke out when it was revealed that this man played World of Warcraft and called Call of Duty a training simulation. His most famous action was an assault on the childrens' camp of the Norwegian Labour Party that killed over 70 people. For 10 points, name this man perpetrator of the 2011 Oslo attacks.

ANSWER: Anders Behring Breivik

45. A leader at this event wrote that if he made water holes accessible to women, he would risk a catastrophe comparable to the Battle of Beresonia. The Cape Argus detailed many abuses throughout this event. Eugen Fischer performed many experiments during this event at Shark Island, while Theodor Leutwin tried to lessen the effects of this event. Prior to this event, a protection treaty was signed after repeated attacks by Hendrik Witbooi, a man who would later revolt. This event included a "Trail of Bones" after the (*) Battle of Waterberg, a victory for the general Lothar Von Trotha. Taking place in the Kalahari desert was, for 10 points, what genocide in German South-West Africa, considered to be the first of the 20th century.

ANSWER: Herero and Namaqua genocide

46. This man had a lost tooth that was thought to be caused by his job, but was actually caused by a childhood incident with a Rottweiler. Julian Bailes conducted tests on this man's head at West Virginia and said his brain resembled that of an 85 year-old Alzheimer's patient. In his book The Hardcore Truth, Bob Holly said that one of this man's actions was most likely caused by alcohol abuse. He placed Bibles by his two victims and his weight-lifting machine. This man murdered his wife (*) Nancy and strangled their son Daniel before hanging himself. Possible causes of that crime include steroid abuse and severe head trauma after performing too many diving headbutts. For 10 points, name this professional wrestler who committed a double-murder and suicide in 2007.

ANSWER: Chris Benoit

47. The USS Preserver discovered many remains from this event. This event caused the postponement of a State of the Union address. The Kerwin Report contained information about this event, and it is believed that a glass transition into a piece of rubber could have caused this event. That theory was proposed by the (*) Rogers Commission which Richard Feynman was a part of. Peggy Noonan gave a famous speech after this event that, and it included the death of Christie McAuliffe and Ronald McNair. Occurring after a liftoff at Cape Canaveral was, for 10 points, what disaster that ended with the destruction of a space shuttle, killing 7 people.

ANSWER: Challenger explosion

48. After being called "Daft Peter", Peter Dinsdale committed this crime many times in England. This crime was commonly committed by a man who was rejected from the LAPD and used a pillow to do it, John Orr. In the D.C area, Thomas Sweatt would follow attractive men to their houses and then commit this crime. A famous example of this crime was committed by a participant in the Mariel Boatlift. That crime was performed by Julio Gonzalez' at the (*) Happy Land club in the Bronx, killing 87 people. When David Berkowitz wasn't shooting people, he would record in a diary whenever he committed this crime. For 10 points, name this crime committed by Mizoguchi at the end of The Temple of the Golden Pavilion, the act of starting a fire to cause damage.

ANSWER: arson [accept obvious equivalents]

49. When he was 16, this man brought a boy to the woods and stabbed him, though he survived, causing this man to laugh and say "I always wondered what it would be like to kill someone". This man served in the Navy during Vietnam, and his first two wives cheated on him. One of his wives described how this man would go to his work at a Kenworth truck factory early for what she presumed was overtime pay. One of his victims was not found until 28 years later and was the girl Tammy Vincent. (*) He is well known for a location that he would use to dispose of his bodies. Ted Bundy offered to help the search for this man while in prison. For 10 points, name this serial killer from California and Washington, known as the Green River Killer.

ANSWER: Gary Ridgway [accept "Green River Killer" before mention]

50. One writing of this man said that "I like killing people because it is so much fun", and he also wrote that he was collecting slaves for the afterlife. This man's first murders occurred before Christmas and took the lives of two high schoolers on their first date. Another attack targeted the taxi driver Paul Stine. Those attacks were committed at Lake Herman Road and (*) Presidio Heights. A suspected copycat of this man operated in Kobe, Japan, while another copycat is Heriberto Seda. Many of his messages to police contained empty threats. Recently, Gary Stewart wrote a book claiming that he was this man's son and David Fincher directed a movie about this man in 2007. For 10 points, name this man who sent many ciphers to police, a Northern California killer who was never caught.

ANSWER: Zodiac killer